Karen Hilburn Cancer Fund donates $40,000 for mammography software

The Karen Hilburn Cancer Fund (KHCF) has donated $40,000 to Mason Health to support the purchase and implementation of MagView, a breast imaging management platform designed to enhance breast cancer screening, risk assessment, patient tracking and follow-up care.

The investment will provide Mason Health's Diagnostic Imaging department with specialized technology that helps identify patients at elevated risk for breast cancer, streamline communication, improve follow-up tracking and create a more comprehensive breast health record for each patient.

"Early detection remains one of the most powerful tools we have in the fight against breast cancer," said Jennifer Kummerfeldt, Director of Population Health at Mason Health. "The Karen Hilburn Cancer Fund's generosity allows us to invest in technology that enhances patient safety, supports our imaging team and strengthens our ability to provide proactive, personalized breast care. We are deeply grateful for their continued partnership and commitment to the health of our community."

November is American Diabetes Month!

Over 40 million Americans are living with diabetes. The American Diabetes Association® is on a mission to end this epidemic. Join us this #AmericanDiabetesMonth by getting involved and spreading awareness.

The following symptoms of diabetes are typical. However, some people with diabetes have symptoms so mild that they go unnoticed.

- Common symptoms of diabetes:
- Urinating often
- Feeling very thirsty
- Feeling very hungry—even though you are eating
- Extreme fatigue
- Blurry vision
- Cuts/bruises that are slow to heal
- Weight loss—even though you are eating more (type 1)
- Tingling, pain, or numbness in the hands/feet (type 2)
- Early detection and treatment of diabetes can decrease the risk of developing the complications of diabetes.

Staffing Updates

Acute Care Services New Leadership

Jessica Maxwell

Mason Health is pleased to announce new leadership within its Acute Care Services team, welcoming Jessica Maxwell, BSN, RN, as Acute Care Services Nurse Supervisor. She brings a commitment to nursing excellence, staff development and exceptional patient care to Mason Health.

Maxwell works collaboratively with the existing leadership team to provide day-to-day support and guidance to MSP and ICU staff, helping ensure continuity of operations and team support.

Maxwell joined Mason Health in 2024 as a staff registered nurse and charge nurse on the MSP unit before stepping into her current leadership role. Her first nursing role was in emergency services, before moving into urgent care and primary care leadership positions. She later served as a nurse leader with Providence before joining Mason Health. She is passionate about staff development, education and retention.
